CHURCH MALL PROJECT PLANS- REDEVELOPMENT ROLLS ON IN SPRINGFIELD

Uniformity, ample space and plenty of parking are included with Blacks Lane and the Church Mall Redevelopment Plan.

For the past year and a half, plans have been underway to not only add attractive living space but to keep from overcrowding while meeting Springfield's COAH obligation. In 2006, Springfield designated this area for redevelopment. Over the years more properties were added, resulting in 4.9 acres.

Message from the Mayor

Dear Neighbors,

It is an honor to be elected the 140th Mayor of Springfield. As a lifelong Springfield resident, it is a dream come true to serve our community. I look forward to building on the progress made over the past three years, and just as with a New Year, comes a new Mayor. With a new Mayor, comes fresh ideas.

DOWNTOWN REVITALIZATION will be my number one priority! We must foster modern and smart development to breathe new life into our downtown commercial district to promote local economic growth and give us a downtown that we can all be proud of.

Equally as important will be combating the ravages of CLIMATE CHANGE on the local level. We must implement sustainable, resilient and forward-thinking policy to make Springfield greener, cleaner and healthier. We must ensure we are better prepared to confront this existential threat to our way of life.

Lastly, to increase my ACCESSIBILITY I plan to hold monthly office hours at Townhall, on the third Thursday of each month, from 6:30 pm to 8:30 pm. If you have any ideas on how to improve Springfield or just wish to say hello, please stop by. I look forward to seeing you there.

Please know my virtual office door is always open! You can always email me questions, comments or concerns, at alexander.keiser@springfield-nj.us and I encourage you to follow my daily musings by liking my Mayor Alex Keiser Facebook page @Keiser4Springfield.

Best wishes for a happy, healthy and prosperous New Year!

VETERANS CORNER.....By Gerry Gebauer

Happy New Year to my fellow veterans and friends. With this article I want to go back in time. This nostalgia came on because not too long ago I happened to be in the neighborhood where I spent two months of my life in 1970. Cannot say it was the best time. The best I can say is, I survived. I am talking about Fort Dix where I took Basic Training. My wife and I happened to be in the neighborhood, so I decided a visit was opportune. There is no more Fort Dix there is now Joint Base MDL- McGuire Air Force Base, Fort Dix and Lakehurst Naval Air Station. Back in 1970 I was bussed in from Newark via the Turnpike. This time we came in the back way driving through training areas and found the main entrance to McGuire. Once in we had a hard time finding the Fort Dix area and never did find the basic training area and barracks. We did manage to find the PX which I think serves all three bases. It was very big, and I found out that as a veteran I can shop in the PX. The next object was to find the enlisted men's club but had no luck with that. From what I have heard from fellow veterans I should feel lucky I had basic at Dix. It was close to home and my now wife could visit on weekends. If you are in that area, I recommend a drive through. I intend to go back and explore some more.

Police Chief's Column for readers of the Patriot Times

Chief John P. Cook

I would first like to wish all of the readers of the Springfield Patriot Times a happy, healthy, and safe New Year.

The police department continues to deal with reports of incidents involving fraudulent activity targeting the public. While these scams may unfold in different ways, the end result is always the same – the perpetrators defraud the victims of their money. Luckily, many financial institutions will rectify fraudulent transactions, but full resolution of these situations can turn in to major hassles for victims. Thieves may attempt to use their victim's breached personal information to open unauthorized accounts or make fraudulent purchases for a long time after the initial fraud is detected.

One type of fraud that continues to occur frequently involves criminals utilizing their victims' stolen identities to open cellular phone accounts, then fraudulently purchasing high-end cellular phones and tablets through the accounts. These accounts are often created on the internet, and the phones and tablets are shipped to the victims' actual addresses. The criminals will closely watch the tracking information for the packages, and attempt to intercept the deliveries before the victims are able to retrieve the packages. In some cases, the criminals will fabricate false ID cards, displaying their photo along with the victim's personal information, and ask the delivery drivers to hand the packages over directly to them. Often times, if the criminals are successful in intercepting the packages, the victim will have no idea this type of fraud took place until they receive notification from a collections service or run a credit check. Luckily, most of the large mail and parcel services are now aware of these types of scams, and their employees are on the lookout for vehicles following them through their routes. However, some companies utilize smaller delivery operations, or subcontract their deliveries to smaller companies during times of high volume. Residents and business owners should be aware of any suspicious vehicles which are parked and occupied for extended periods during times when their mail or other packages are normally delivered, and contact the police department. It is a good idea to periodically run your credit report to verify your open accounts and check for any unauthorized activity. Many banks and credit card companies offer this to their clients free of charge, but if yours doesn't, don't worry -- everyone is entitled to one free copy of their credit report every 12 months from each of the three nationwide credit reporting companies (<https://www.ftc.gov/faq/consumer-protection/get-my-free-credit-report>).

Another scam that has sustained popularity involves individuals posing as social security agents who contact potential victims via telephone and falsely report that their social security numbers have been compromised. People that fall victim to these scams not only breach their personal information by providing it directly to these scammers over the phone, they are also defrauded out of thousands of dollars as the scammers direct them to purchase gift cards, bitcoin, or other electronic currency for payment of "fees" to resolve their accounts. Scammers will threaten their victims that US Marshalls or other law enforcement officials will show up at their residence and arrest them if the payments are not made within a certain time frame. According to the Social Security Administration, you will always receive prior notification by mail or telephone before a personal visit is made by one of their agents. You can call them at 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778) to verify the identity of the Social Security employee who has contacted you.

Very few instances exist in which you may have to provide confidential personal information over the phone, text message, or email. You should take every precaution to safeguard your social security number, bank account numbers, credit/debit card numbers, and other personal identifying information. If something doesn't seem quite right, you should initiate contact with the company or agency directly by looking up the telephone numbers yourself, to verify the situation.

If you feel you may have fallen victim to one of these scams, contact the Police Department for assistance and for more information.

LIBRARY REMEDIATION PROGRESS REPORT

The work has begun! Once all the bookshelves and other pieces of furniture got moved out of the children's room, teen room, AV room and circulation desk areas, on January 5 contractors began the arduous task of removing and replacing damaged sheetrock, to be followed by the installation of new carpeting throughout these same areas. Once this work has been finished, we will assess the possibility of safely bringing the public back inside the completed sections of the library while work continues in the adult services portion of the building.

I cannot be inside the building while this initial round of work is taking place, but I can't wait to share more pictures with you once I am allowed back in.

In the meantime, check out the picture I've included of the mostly empty children's room.

Update as of January 14th - Flood damaged sheetrock was removed throughout the children's room as well as from most of the staff work areas and offices. Testing was done to confirm that the walls are now mold free, and new sheetrock is being installed in these areas. Next up will be repainting the walls and the installation of new carpeting in the children's room, teen room, circulation desk area, and AV room.

CHURCH MALL PROJECT

The original plan contained 150 units and 5 floors but since has been reduced to 100 units and 4 floors. Those units include, 15 affordable housing units and 85 open market units. Of those 85; 25 are one bedroom (minimum average size of 900 square feet) and 60 are two bedrooms (minimum average size of 1000 square feet).

The property is within walking distance to the town center. The plan includes many outdoor amenities; a new patio, a pool, playground, and underground parking, to create a campus-like feeling. As the plan shows; Spring Mill Manor is included with exterior facade improvements to match the new building, There will be sufficient parking for residents and guests.

Important to also note that this falls under resilience planning which is redeveloping older, under-utilized properties where there's a lot of impervious coverage. A substantial amount of vegetation is not taken down, the redevelopment stays for the most part within the existing building

Please also see the video presentation on the redevelopment plan from the Township Committee Meeting that was held on Nov.23rd which is posted on our website, www.springfieldpatriot.com.

Emergency Management Coordinator
oemcoordinator@springfield-nj.us

IT NEVER HURTS TO BE READY!

2021 certainly has been a challenging year from a preparedness perspective. This past year has brought out the third most active and intense hurricane season on record and the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic has altered how we conduct our daily routines. The events which have unfolded in the year of 2021 have certainly reminded us all about the importance of preparedness. The addition of preparedness into our day-to-day lives is crucial as the impact of a hurricane, pandemic, etc. may be less harmful to those who resolve to be ready. After all, failing to prepare is preparing to fail.

Preparing goes beyond simply having extra food and water. In the modern world, an emergency savings fund and the storing of important documents are just a few readiness techniques to ensure you and your loved ones are prepared for 2022. Revising your emergency plan to ensure all personal information is updated and keeping 2 weeks' worth of food, water, and medications will make you better prepared for the upcoming year. Being a more preparation-minded individual will set you and your loved ones up for future success and ensure that you are in good standing to get through whatever may come your way in 2022.

Below is a list of additional preparedness steps:

- Include cash in your emergency supply kit. During an extended power outage, ATMs and credit card machines may not work.
- Check-in with neighbors to see how you can help each other out before and after a storm.
- Pick an out-of-town person for everyone to contact during an emergency.
- Preparing your family for an emergency is as simple as having a conversation over dinner. Make a plan tonight.
- As part of your family's emergency supply kit, include games and toys to keep children entertained.
- Get prepared by having an emergency supply kit already stored.
- Snap pictures of your property and make an inventory for insurance purposes.
- 30: The number of days it takes for flood insurance to begin. The time to buy is when it's dry.
- If you rely on public transportation, contact your local emergency management agency about evacuation procedures before a hurricane.
- Make a list of the things you would need or want to take with you if you had to leave your home quickly.
- Prepare your car for winter: keep your gas tank near full to help avoid ice in the tank and fuel lines.
- Make a plan to check on neighbors if extreme cold or winter weather knocks out your power.
- Learn how to shut off the utilities where you live, including water, electricity, and gas.
- Take a first aid and CPR class
- Plan how you will leave and where you will go if you are advised to evacuate. Don't forget to include pets in your plans! www.ready.gov/evacuation #Resolve-ToBeReady
- Assemble supplies for a "go-bag" you can carry if you need to evacuate
- Make a portable emergency kit for your car
- Save. Save. Your emergency savings can help you get lifesaving items like food, shelter, and water in an emergency.
- 48% of people have an emergency fund, which gives them the savings to overcome simple emergencies.

Being prepared not only reduces losses that may be associated with a disaster, but it also reduces fear and anxiety at an individual level. The entire perception of an event may be altered for those who take precautions and are well prepared. Preparation is a crucial part of our everyday life. Make preparedness a part of your routine in 2022 and resolve to be ready.
